

The following quotes are from students who attended the Experiencing Jesus Conference in December.

"I never considered going out and sharing my faith with strangers, but after I felt God strongly call me to step out of my comfort zone and do outreach with people at the Gas Lamp district, I answered His call to obedience, and man, did he rock my world. I ended up with four of the most awesome people I have ever met talking to total strangers and really feeling God moving in us and through as we shared the gospel. It was an experience that literally changed my life and now gave me so many amazing stories to share!"

"I went into the mission opportunities time thinking that I wasn't going to do a summer project this summer, but after hearing the info, praying, and talking to many people, I have decided to apply for this summer. This is decision forced me to give up my plans and surrender my summer to God."

"Mike Erre's talk about the revolution changed my life and my relationship with God. Some of the worship was amazing as well."

"The worship and speaking was just insanely awesome. I can't pick between what was a better highlight at the event. It's just so hard to pick because it was all just so good. Everything just made me think and got me into the spirit. The skit in the morning about heaven gave a me a new look at how heaven would actually be like. Everything was just a great experience and it seemed like I actually felt the presence of Jesus, more than I've ever had before."

A few weeks ago I went out to the Epic Conference to interview students and staff and gather highlights of the conference that will be used for a future promo video.

Epic is the Asian American focused ministry of Campus Crusade for Christ. Helping students to Live, Love & Lead in their relationship with Jesus.

Epic began in 1997 with a desire to see spiritual awakening come to the Asian American communities on our college campuses. The Epic Movement is committed to life change in the context of community, serving the world, and presenting the life of Jesus Christ to others.

Well, after spending an extended time in California, I've finally returned to Orlando. It was great to be able spend time with my family again.

At the end of December I drove down to San Diego for the Experience Jesus Conference, that's the 17th in a row I've been to now! (2 years attending as a student and 15 working there as Crusade staff)

In January I took some much needed vacation time and also had a chance to visit some friends and supporters in the area. I also spent three days at Macworld checking out some of the latest software tools for my ministry.

At the end of the month I went to Tahoe for a Crusade Singles Retreat. It was the 12th in a row I've organized! You could pray that I get married soon.

Thank you for your continued partnership with me!

Experience Jesus Conference

After Christmas I traveled down to San Diego for the Experience Jesus Conference, formally known as the Christmas Conference.

Epic Conference

Asian American collegiates gather from all over the West Coast to attend this conference last weekend.
